Planned activities

- Two ideas under analysis for promoting new projects:
  - Control of exposure due to natural radiation (NORM, Radon and other applications). Formal proposal submitted to the FORO's Steering Committee.
  - Radioactive waste management. Brainstorming for identifying common interests.
- FORO is opened to the participation of experts coming from wherever. Working language and financing could be the main barriers, but surely there are solutions.
- To continue participating in international conferences and events.

Working together

- Sharing experiences and lessons learned by any of us.
- To create and to share data bases including experts that could be consulted about specific topics.
- Creating contents and materials based on the results or cumulated knowledge, for its promotion on the web.
- To obtain and compile experiences, recommendations and lessons learned from the implementation of the projects results.
- To create Ad-Hoc groups for analyzing and defining consensual positions on specific technical topics of interest.
- Translating results or documents of common interest into other languages.
